JSEC MAKES A DIFFERENCE

Would you like to learn about the newest recruitment methods, about the latest changes in labor laws, or about labor-related programs that could save you time and money?

Would you like an opportunity to get involved in job fairs, to make some changes in the way the Department of Labor does business or to participate in outreach to older workers and other non-traditional labor pools? You can do all this and more when you join a Job Service Employer Committee (JSEC).

There are scores of JSECs currently active throughout the state. They vary in size from a few dozen to several hundred active members, many of whom represent leading businesses in each area.

THE PURPOSE OF A JSEC IS TO:

- Open lines of communication between the Labor Department and the employer community.
- Provide a vehicle to inform employers of the services and programs of the Labor Department and let employers know how they can benefit from them.
- Suggest methods to improve Labor Department services and performance.
- Provide expert information to employers on issues that affect the business community.

- Engage in public/private ventures that will be of benefit to both employers and the labor force.
- Effect beneficial legislative changes at state and federal levels.

JSEC MEMBERS HAVE THE INSIDE TRACK ON:

- Participating in local and regional seminars on employment-related subjects.
- Addressing local employment and training issues.
- Providing input and recommendations on how local Division of Employment Service Offices operate.
- Gaining access to up-to-date labor market information.
- Creating workable solutions to human resource issues.
- Networking with other New York State employers.
- Interacting with the local educational system in preparing students for the world of work.
- Participating in job and career fairs.

When you join a JSEC, you help ensure that you get the full benefit of the services that your federal unemployment taxes provide by obtaining a better understanding of services available through the Department of Labor.

RECENT JSEC ACTIVITIES

Seminars and workshops:

Topping the popularity list are seminars on: Controlling Unemployment Insurance Costs, the Department of Labor's Computerized Job-Matching Service and Labor Market Information.

Among the many other topics —

Human Resources, Screening Employees, Preventing Sexual Harassment, Americans with Disabilities Act, Reasonable Accommodation, Hiring Sources, The Shared Work Program, AIDS in the Workplace, Substance Abuse, Employee Benefits, Increasing Productivity, and Employer Needs in Workforce Development.

Job Fairs:

JSEC-sponsored job fairs have captured the attention of youth, job seekers and job changers. Many thousands of potential employees are hired through job fairs every year.
